

To the People of Ogden

George J. Kelly, chairman of the City Republican Committee, was called to Nebraska last Wednesday evening on important business and sends this message:

"Tell the people of Ogden, irrespective of political beliefs, to attend the primary elections Monday night at 7:30 o'clock sharp, and to help name delegates and build a platform and name candidates for mayor, commissioner, city judge and auditor who will represent the whole people of Ogden and not the few corporation stockholders who are fattening at the public's expense. I recommend that national and state politics be forgotten in the platform. Build a Democratic-Republican-Peoples' platform which the great mass of Ogden's good men and women can endorse and applaud. I regret that I cannot be with you. The committee has no plans mapped out. It is up to the voters to act. I have asked the vice president, J. M. Foristall, to take my place while I am gone. As a standpatter I fully endorse Colonel Roosevelt's great sentiment, 'Let the People Rule.'"

CURING A COLD.

If you find you have caught cold in spite of precaution nip it in the bud. The time to attack a cold in order to cure it is at its very start. At the first sniffle or the first cough begin to fight it. Drink plenty of fresh water, eat lightly and get plenty of sleep. Before going to bed take a hot bath and drink a hot lemonade. Then cover up warmly and be sure there is no draft between the windows and the door, but have the window open enough to get plenty of air in the room. This treatment will probably cause you to perspire freely and you must be careful not to throw off the covers and expose your overheated body to more cold.

If this treatment is taken at the start and carefully adhered to it will probably drive the cold right out of your system. But if you do not treat it at the very beginning it will have to run its course gradually.

SPECIAL BLOUSES.

The separate blouse is of simple character and is otherwise in line with the general style tendencies. The newest note is the introduction of dark waists to match the tailored suit in color, says the Dry Good Economist in its Fall style issue. The more dressy waists are made of chiffon, Georgette crepe, taffeta, satin, marquisette and crepe de chine. For the simple tailored waists for practical wear crepe de chine, in white or flesh color, is favored. Laco waists, in black or in white, are a feature of the new season's styles.

A limited quantity of the more elaborate numbers have the girle finish, to be worn outside the skirt.

FOR NEXT SUMMER.

It is not yet too late to take advantage of the remarkable sales of marked down summer frocks. It is too late to wear them this summer. But why not buy some simple frocks for morning wear to use next year?

Last year, when the shops were selling out their narrow-skirted models, this advice would not have been good. But now, when the skirts are conveniently full, so full, in fact, that they would not look want under any circumstances save the coming of actual hoops, real bargains are available. If the skirts grow narrower—and they probably won't before next summer—a couple of seams will alter your bargain frocks to the new style.

CUSHION COVER.

An attractive cushion cover could be made by using dull blue damask with the ecru filed crocheted motifs. The medallions could be placed diagonally across the pillow or one could be placed in each corner and one in the center. Any other desired arrangement should be substituted. The back of the pillow should be just the dull blue damask. The front and back are seamed together on the wrong side, then the covers are turned, the open end being overhanded together after the cushion is in place. No finish should be used for the edge of the pillow, as it is much smarter with the plain seam.

NOT TO INCLUDE WAR MUNITIONS

Difference of Opinion Among Bankers as to the Foreign Loan.

New York, Sept. 17.—The Anglo-French financial commissioners who are seeking to establish a mammoth credit loan here, and American financiers who expect to supply the money, were reported to be at odds tonight over the burning question of including munitions of war among exports to be paid for by the proceeds of the loan.

On several details of the loan the commission and the bankers have agreed, but on this major question, it was said, their views are diametrically opposed. Further it developed tonight there is an apparent split on the question in the ranks of the American financiers.

The commission's attitude, so far as it can be interpreted from a canvass of such bankers conferring with it today as would talk, is that the big credit, whether a billion dollars, or less, should provide funds for all exports and that munitions of war certainly should be included.

Cash for Munitions. Some American bankers think so, too; but a great many are said to be of the opinion that the loan should cover only commodity exports, such as wheat, cotton and manufactured products, and that another method must be found to pay for munitions of war, even if this method involves the shipment of huge stocks of gold across the Atlantic to the United States.

The situation has not reached the acute stages of a deadlock, nor anything approaching it, but the line of demarcation is clear and well defined. Many hours, it became known tonight, have been passed in discussing this single issue, and many more, it was thought, would follow in similar discussions before it is decided.

Role of Russia. A minor point of variance between the commission and some American bankers is the role that Russia is to play in the participation of the loan.

The commission, although acting officially only for Great Britain and France, is popularly believed to contemplate including Russia in its plans, too. Authority for such inclusion, it is thought, would follow the forthcoming conference at London among the Russian and French finance ministers and the British chancellor of the exchequer.

But some American bankers want to deal direct with Russia and object, it is reported, to having her obtain money in this country through England and France.

Rate of Interest. A third point of disagreement, subordinate to either of the others, concerns the rate of interest.

If the commission's backers have correctly reflected its views in their talks with newspaper men, Great Britain and France are emphatic in their assertion that the proposed bonds shall not pay more than 5 per cent interest and there will be no underwriting of the issue. This would eliminate the possibility that any group of bankers would be paid fees to place the loan on the market here. The return to the banker and the investor, it is reported, is to be the same.

As to this proposal, it is understood, the American bankers generally have been won over. Here and there, however, a voice of dissent is heard. In some quarters a return of one-half of 1 per cent to the bankers is regarded as no more than due. But it is almost unanimously believed that the commission has firmly determined that London and Paris shall be put to no greater expense than a straight 5 per cent interest rate, beyond a moderate sum for clerical aid in distributing the big issue here.

CONSCRIPTION IS A GREAT ISSUE

Evidence That England Must Have Compulsory Service to Get Men.

By ORTON TEWSON.

London, Sept. 17.—A political sensation of the first magnitude has been caused by the publication in the London Daily News of particulars of an alleged plot whereby a minority of the most powerful members of the cabinet have determined to force the issue of conscription in the cabinet at an early date. Next week is mentioned.

Failing an agreement on the subject, the Daily News declares the ministers in question intend to resign their offices, precipitating a cabinet crisis which would be attended by great peril to the nation.

It is stated that the object of the conscriptions is to force a general election on the issue of compulsory service.

Churchill's Speech.

Churchill, addressing munition workers at Enfield this evening, said: "For the last four or five months the affairs of the allies have not been as well as might be hoped. Three great military events are of outstanding importance, which, while not disastrous, were disappointments.

"In France and Flanders a series of costly attacks was made on the German lines and, although ground was gained, the German lines were not pierced.

"In the great battle of the Dardanelles we gained invaluable ground which led us forward, but we have not the vantage points at which we aimed.

"Then came the invasion of Russia by the Austro-Germans in enormous strength and the retreat of our gallant allies, whose army, I am glad to say, is intact.

Situation Serious. "While Russia is recovering her lost strength a new and unmistakable burden has fallen upon us. The situation is very serious.

"It is in our power to carry the war to a successful conclusion, but we can do it only if we utilize the whole strength of our national capacity.

"If at the end the liberties of Britain and of Europe are intact and inviolate, those who hereafter look back upon this unhappy but not inglorious generation will say it did not fail under the test; it has preserved the liberties of the world for us today."

The gulf which separates the advocates of compulsory service and of the voluntary system is becoming wider.

FIRE INSURANCE IN STATE OF UTAH

Salt Lake, Sept. 18.—In the past three years property owners in the state of Utah have received back in payment of fire losses $49.50 for every $100 paid to the insurance companies. On the heels of this favorable state of affairs is to come the deduction of approximately 25 per cent in the fire insurance rates of Salt Lake City. The average rate of Colorado's realization upon its paid premiums in the past three years has been but $34.80, and the state having grown envious of Utah's more fortunate situation with relation to its net output for fire protection, has started a campaign for better conditions.

Recently insurance Commissioner John James received an inquiry from Denver relative to statistics on the amounts paid to insurance companies doing business in Utah in the past five years and the amounts paid by the companies to property owners for fire losses.

James Is Surprised. The figures rather surprised Commissioner James on the question of progress made since 1911, when he had compiled them from the office records. In 1911 the return in paid fire losses was but $31.20 for every $100 paid in insurance premiums. In the two years of 1910 and 1911 there was paid in insurance premiums by the property owners of the state $1,910,927.41, while they received in return only $607,145.88. This condition was slightly worse than Colorado complains of now. In the years of 1912, 1913 and 1914, however, a marked change was wrought in the fire insurance fortunes of this state, and the record for 1915 must be even a better showing because of the recent rate reduction on Salt Lake property.

In his letter giving the information asked for in the inquiry from Colorado.

as a spy by a German court martial. The Swiss government has intervened in his behalf.

The Journal de Geneve says that at Montreux, Switzerland, Doerflinger was engaged by a stranger to supply military information.

Through his acquaintance with a German, now an aviator, who had conducted a factory at Freiburg, in which military aeroplanes were manufactured, Doerflinger was able to take a trip in a warplane. All he learned, he is alleged to have communicated to the foreign agent, being heavily paid for the information he gave. Also it is averred he made arrangements with the wives of German soldiers at the front to secure military information through the women, for which they were paid. It was one of these who denounced Doerflinger. When it was necessary to put anything in writing he is said to have made use of the inside of his collar.
